The Temple Mount is in our Hands

This publication, the first of a planned series, is marked by a number of critical qualities:

It contains well-researched and in-depth Torah content, particularly relevant to the reality of Jewish life today, embracing the many positive opportunities of both modernity and Zionism, palatable to scholar and layperson alike, beautifully designed and presented in course book format.

This inaugural publication focuses on Yom Yerushalayim, and will illuminate your classes and lectures on the oft-forgotten but pivotal day. It's particularly pertinent this year, as we enter into the 50th year marking the remarkable unification of our Holy City. The theme of this full-colored source-based booklet is the unparalleled unifying power of Yerushalayim – a city unlike any other in its potential to transform, integrate and unite the Jewish and human experience into one holistic whole.

We are offering this material for a nominal fee in order to provide a framework for discussing Yom Yerushalayim in your communities.
